One of India's most popular celebrations is the Diwali festival also known as "Deepavali" in some parts of India. As a part of Diwali celebrations, people clean their homes, go Shopping for new apparel, accessories, diwali lights, diyas, and buy sweets. Celebrating a special occasion would just not feel the same without sharing and exchanging yummy sweets with our loved ones. Whether it is an auspicious festival, or simply a joyous occasion within family or friends, serving a plate full of delicious sweet dishes is an integral part of celebration. Taking in the aroma of homemade mithai/sweet lingering throughout the house is always a sign that a special occasion is just around the corner. MPS students enthusiastically participated in making cookies and sweets for the occasion. Many students prepared delicious sweets and cookies and after the preparation they happily shared their preparation with the other students.
